

Lynn Lee & Atrayu

American Endurance Ride Conference

2015 AERC Decade Team

Atrayu is 16 years old already. Doesn't seem so long ago he was this wild eyed, long legged youngster that made me wonder what had I gotten my self into. Fast forward several years and this handful matured into a handsome easygoing, ground covering machine. He's half Morgan for comfort and Arab for endurance. He's not fast but steady. He's mentored several young horses on their first ride at a slow easy pace or top tens when I feel the need for speed. Now a days I just go along for the ride, he's like therapy for me, he does his job and enjoys every minute of it. We have started riding for next season and he's rearing to go. I hope I have many more years and miles with my trusty friend.
